PROJECTS

Mr. Tomato

📅 10/2019 - Ongoing

Innovative restaurant staff training platform. The application makes the process of training, certification, and results analysis transparent.

My role is to develop and support SPA, created with React, which actually is an the application admin panel.

Used technologies: React 16.8, Typescript, MobX, Material UI components, styled components, web-sockets.

Carpooler

📅 01/2019 - 10/2019

The project of an online mobile-oriented service for selecting companions for sharing private cars usage on trips in Ukraine.

The main instrument of calculating routes and intermediate points was chosen Here maps - the free map service with sufficient functionality. In project implementation progress I carried out profound work on integrating the capabilities of the external HERE maps API with a custom server-based live search application for the official and unofficial names of the endpoints and intermediate points of the route.Voice search of route points working in conjunction with live search and displaying point on the map was implemented as well.

Also in the project I was responsible for authentication/authorization with roles module, routes superposition and user information exchange for driver-passengers group modules.

Used technologies: React with hooks, Redux, Material UI components, HERE maps API, Web speech API, Firebase API.
